My personal favorite Spy Fox, but probably because it's the one I have the single most nostalgia for. I love the characters, the environments, the music, the puzzles, the gadgets, the dialogue. The story is pretty good, it's your basic save the planet plot. Oh and the "11 original SPY songs" were a cool bonus. Shame you don't get the CD audio version of them with this release (or even the 2 bonus tracks). Overall feels like a worthwhile conclusion to a long gone, but not forgotten franchise.. this game is PANTS!!! wish i'd read the reviews before wasting \u00a336.99 on it!. Gorgeous graphics and amazing characters. Insane amount of details and effort has been put into it.. I paid good money for this game and now it wont let me play on my computer, thats not right..... My GPU burn when i start this game. Vsync not working in thins game..... TL:DR: Atmosphere is what you'd expect for a FPS horror zombie game. It's decent but nothing really new. Controls feel a bit clunky and some issues with bindings. Load screens are long. Perspective is oddly zoomed in, and feels very off. Launcher starts up the Command prompt before it starts, and recording software does not like to record it. Zombies are quite generic and slow (at least up until the third chapter). Jump scares exist.

The game start out in an office where presumably we've been at work most of the day.

As we leave the office. Bam!

Zombie time.

If you've played zombie games before, this is familiar.

A jump scare here, a moaning zombie there, head shot, heat shot, head shot.

But wait! Head shots only work on certain zombies. Those which had the unfortunate luck to be of the crawling variety require 3 shots to be killed \(regardless of the location\).

On the plus side, I spotted at least 4 different zombie skins up until the third chapter. So at least they all aren't the same.

The biggest issue in this game is the weird perspective and controls. The entire game is spent in a weird zoomed in point of view. It's like the camera hovers a foot in-front of the characters body. Even looking around while standing still appears to have a slight orbit effect on the camera. I was starting to feel slightly sick after half an hour of it.

Also, the controls to change items are weirdly bound to the numpad. Why not just the normal numbers above the typing keys, or even the mouse wheel? Seems odd to take your hand off the controls to change between the flashlight and gun.

Audio is actually pretty decent. From the soundtrack on the title screen to small effects in game. I'm glad they spent time making that good, since sound is so very important to horror games.

In the very beginning you are treated to a short stint of voice acting. It wasn't actually that bad. But then I didn't hear it again. A shame really, I was hoping for more.

The atmosphere is also fairly decent. It reminds me at times of F.E.A.R., and that is a good thing. Parts of the environment will trigger at times, feasting zombies are always creepy, and subtle environmental ques are always good in a horror game.

Loading screen are oddly long. Sometimes taking over a full minute.

It's almost 2018. Most AAA games don't even take that long.

Perhaps a little bit of optimization would go a long way.

Also there is a whole lot of item, texture and light popping.

For \$4, there is better on the steam store. Perhaps with a bit of work from the developer, this could be good, but in its current state, I do not recommend.

.Pros:

Pervasive depressing atmosphere

Puzzles are fun, especially towards the end

Good soundtrack

Existential crisis benches

Has shock boots

Cons:

Walking felt a tad too slow

Puzzles can have fail states requiring a checkpoint reload

A bit hard to grok some of the story

Inventory and crafting can be tedious: a few times I didn't realise what combinations of items I hadn't tried and it nearly made me quit \(exacerbated by no gamefaqs being out yet\)

Some hacking riddles were too hard and had to brute force

No fire boots

Despite the cons I enjoyed the game and it definitely succeeded at what it was trying to do. I do wish the character's turmoil had more representation in the gameplay \(e.g. like when you want to read that note and the character refuses\).

7/10. I found this game from a YouTuber named Shubble \(I suggest you check her out\). I looked all over for it. I played it. I loved it. I think it's sad that this game doesn't get as much attention as it should. It is a beautiful game. A beautiful storyline. Melt your heart characters. This game is just beautiful. I even cried a little during it. I recommend it so much.. I deeply enjoy playing this game. I purchased both this version and the mobile version a long while ago, both of which I enjoyed playing through and would recommend to anyone who enjoys biking or gaming. When playing with a controller the stick sensitivity was an issue for me, so a sensitivity bar in the options menu wouldn't go amiss \(unless i've missed one somewhere\), also I really like the first person camera, and spent a good half an hour-45 minutes playing 1 level over and over just because I enjoyed it so much. In order to fully enjoy this I feel that this may require some patching and control changes, such as forward and backward on the sticks on a controller, instead of left and right. Other than these small issues \(and a couple of bugs, which, lets be honest, are HILARIOUS\), this game is awesome and I love it to bits. :\). That Turkey !! That Turkey !! Never tired !!

2 $ Buy it. I love this game. The game at the same time and pleases and causes anger. Some levels explode the brain. Some pass on the fly Perhaps change the first screenshot text from "infinite" to "more" fatigue points to be specific. Otherwise not bad for a $1.. Only played a little but..

So far, it's a great little game. Just on single player, its fun and weirdly addictive.
Quite difficulty too, even at the medium setting.

Haven't tried local multipalyer yet, need to find a friend so i can invite them round for a game.
(no online multiplayer unfortunately, hopefully that will come later)

Would definitely recommend, especially for the price.. Simple, thought out, well made, beautiful to look at and doesn't get old.
It's just reaaaally good gameplay and a must have for competitive couch gaming. Bored to death. The reason I gave 30 minutes of my life away was because I was hoping that the game will perhaps get better on higher levels. This never happened.

Bad sound, unpolished and resources killer, this is an absolute not buy.. Ancient game hahahahaha got a 90% coupon still not worth it.
